the city police force, in plain clothes, visited a citizen, and asked him certain questions as to the former eastern connections of Mr. Groff, the plaintiff in the case.

The policeman was unable to obtain the evidence he evidently sought, however, for the citizen whom he visited had never known Mr. Groff in the east, and in fact did not know him here. The policeman had been misinformed as to the knowledge which the citizen might have to give him.

The citizen was accosted by the policeman, who asked him if he knew Mr. Groff. The reply was that he did not know him, nor had he known him at any time. He then asked the policeman what the trouble was. The policeman replied that he merely wanted to find out what the citizen knew about the plaintiff in the case against the chief.

COUNCIL HOLDS SHORT SESSION

AT THE REQUEST OF LONDON FIRM GAS FRANCHISE GOES OVER.

The council chamber was well filled last evening with citizens, who, if they were present under the hallucination that there would be anything exciling, that there would be anything exciting, were doomed to disapointment. In fact, the meeting was one of the shortest and dryest held this year, the council adjourning at nine o'clock. The finance committee, to whom the request of the coronation committee for a grant of 88,000, to asist in defraying the expenses of the proposed celebration on coronation day, was submitted, reported through Ald. Melmis, that in their opinion the council had no auth-commisisoners will be asked to bring in a report as to the type of machinery which they propose to purchase. The council then adjourned until next Tuesday evening.

Mr. Bouillon Four Flushing On Mixed Pressures

It now develops that Mr. Bouillon was four-flushing when he gave as his reason for changing from high pressure to mixed pressure turbines the allegation that he had discovered that the mixed pressure engine could not be delivered in time to be of any use this coming

As a matter of fact, Mr. Bouillon knew this all the time

While he was hurling defies at the city council, the power house superintendents and the experts and declaring to all and sundry that he was going to ignore their recommendations and buy this particular class of engine in spite of them, there was on file in the city office a letter from the makers of the engines in which they state that they could deliver the high pressure engine in one hundred days from date of order, but that they could not deliver the mixed pressure tur bine in less than nine and one-half months. This letter was received bine in less than nine and one-half months. This letter was received on the and of March, making the earliest possible date of delivery, had the mixed pressure engine been ordered then, December 17. So that all the time Mr Bouillon was going through the theatricals about how he was the only man who had the right to choose and to order, he knew that he could not get the mixed pressure engines on time and that the only engine he could get was the high pressure engine.

If ever there was any doubt that Mr. Bouillon is an impossible man to work with, this last performance should dispel it. In fact, Mr. Bouillon's methods are becoming every painful and may become very costly. In refusing to give Mr. Bouillon the handling of this money until he tells what he is going to buy with it, the council is taking the only course which will protect the city.

The Victories Of Peace and The Reward

That "peace hath her victories" was never better proven than in the case of Dr. William Saunders, just now retiring from the position of superintendent of Experimental Farms for the Dominion of

Dr. Saunders is the man who for time almost immemorial ha tion of superintendent of Experimental Farms for the Dominion of Canada.

Dr. Saunders is the man who for time almost immemorial has been at the head of the experimental farms. He is to Canada what Luther Burbank is to United States—only more so., Saunders has produced and given to the world the Marquis wheat, a wheat which will ripen fourteen days earlier than any that existed at the time he commenced making the experiments, and has thereby added enormously to the area which may be devoted to wheat.

There are no soldiers and few statesmen to whom Canada owes more than to Dr. Saunders.

With no clash of arms nor sanguinary conflict he has conquered for the human race more territory than Napoleon ever added to the banners of France in any one campaign. Quietly, modestly, without heraldry, pomp or celat, a professor working in a laboratory, unknown to nine-tenths of the people, he has rolled back the map nearly five hundred milles and pushed the northern wheat limitation that much nearer the pole, adding thereby a hundred million acres to the wheat fields of the Canadian west.

Had a soldier scored such a conquest, his name would have been emblazoned on the nation's grandest monuments his house ennobled, his name enshrined in history as a great national figure, the story of his deeds of blood and violence told and retold in song and story and depicted in the art and the literature of the age.

But because it is the director of an experimental farm who makes the conquest, and because his method is not one of carnage but of science, the story of his conquest is found not in the heroic records of the age, but in the musty blue books which cumber the shelves of the delving few and which are seldom opened even by the few.

And strangest of all is this, that where science quietly adds a whole new empire to the bread basket of the world, and where war adds nothing but a trail of desolation and death, Canada spends less than two millions in the agriculture department of the delning few and which are seldom opened even b

The Intercolonial and the Policy of the Government

Again in the eastern papers the story is revived that the Intercolonial is to be handed over to Mackenzie & Mann, and this time there has so far been forthcoming no denial.

Last year when the Laurier party was touring the west the story was being published in the east, possibly with a view to placing the Laurier party in an unfavorable light before the western farmers, and it was while in Edmonton that George Graham gave out the most emphatic denial that any such deal was contemplated by the sovernment.

Since that time the minister of railways has announced that the government will build the Hudson's Bay railway as a government road, and it was generally taken throughout the west that this decision was a concession to the farmers who believe in government

For the government, in the face of their announcement of a year ago that there never was and never would be any negotiation for the Intercolonial, and their later announcement that the Hudson's Bay was to be a government road, to swing about now and undertake the sale of the Intercolonial would be such poor politics that no one could ever believe that Laurier would take such a course.

JUST PARAGRAPHS

their members from the social register and charged high dues. The man who at that time sneered at golf as being the plutocrat's game, solaring golf today.

Golf has grown at a faster rate in the last ten years than any other sport in the world. It has long since left the rich man's domain, and must now be rated as a popular sport. It is within the reach of everybody. There are golf clubs that cost as low as $25,00 a year in membership dues. A set of clubs, many of which last a lifetime, cost about $10.00.

Golf has grown strictly on its merits. No sport was ever more ridiculed when it was first played in this country. Had the sport no merit it would have been laughed off the continent. The fact that is survived the jeers and sneers and has grown so tremendously is the best possible argument for the sport.

Today the game is scoffed at only by the very ignorant and stupid; persons who would sneer at Niagara Falls, Pike's Peak or the scene of Rouen. It is the only game that can be played a lifetime; all sorts and ages of men and women are eligible. But it mus not be inferred that it is a game for the anaemic and the weakling. There are many six-foot and 200-pounders playing the game every day, for it requires strength as well as skill, yet at the same time the round-shouldered, non-athletic can play it and will grow robust playing it.

Best of all about the sport is that one does not look at golf, but plays it.

CONCERT

WITH THE object of filling the McDougall Auditorium to its capacity to hear Mischa-Elman, the celebrated Russian Violinist, who has been filling the largest Concert Halls both in the United present tour, and known

States and Canada on his throughout both Continents as "The Violinist of the Heavenly Tone." Mr. Suckling has decided (in the case of this concert only) to adopt the novel experiment of giving a single bonus ticket to all purchasers of seats at the Mischa Elman Ticket Office at Harmony Hall, 237-39 Rice Street, when a purchase is made of regular reserved seat tickets either at $2 or $1. Mr. Suckling hopes that this bonus ticket offer will lead to the desired result of a larger attendance of our musical people and their appreciation of the best quality of music
